PLANS INDEFINITE ABOUT MUKDEN

Gen. Stoessel Reports Killing of 10,000 Japanese.

The German Emperor Alleged to Have Wished the Baltic Squadron Well.

ENGAGEMENT IS ABOUT DUE

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—A foreign dispatch from Gen. Stoessel, dated Sept. 30, has been received, saying, "Since the attacks on Port Arthur, Sept. 23, all has been quiet, though there have been daily skirmishes and artillery bombardments. From Sept. 19, to the 23, the Japanese assaulted and bombarded the forts to the northwest of Port Arthur, but were repulsed. The Japanese only gained two small redoubts, which were wrecked by bombardment. The Japanese destroyed the aqueduct." Gen. Stoessel estimates the Japanese loss in four days of fighting at ten thousand killed and wounded.

A FORWARD MOVEMENT.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—Frequent fighting between the Japanese advance guards and Cossacks on the south front of General Kuropatkin's army is reported in dispatches to the Russian war office, and is regarded as indicative of the near approach of a general forward movement by Field Marshal Oyama's forces. It is estimated that since the battle of Liao Yang 40,000 of the guards stationed in western Russia have been ordered to the far east. No word has been received as to the condition of affairs at Port Arthur.

JAPS TO DEFEND.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Col. Gasdke, the Tageblatt's correspondent in the far east, telegraphs from Mukden that the Japanese apparently are no longer advancing, but are preparing for defensive operations.

A FEW SKIRMISHES.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 5.—Official advices from the far east describes a series of skirmishes on the southern front of General Kuropatkin's army, the only importance of which lies in the fact that the Japanese are showing a disposition to press forward and feel out the Russian positions. General Mischenko's Cossacks in every case drove back the opposing forces.

A STARTLING REPORT.

Rome, Oct. 5.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Newspaper Giornale D'Italia wires that the German Emperor has telegraphed the commander of the Russian Baltic fleet wishing him a good voyage and good luck. The same correspondent says that word has been received at St. Petersburg that the original Vladivostok Garrison, only four thousand troops remain. He adds that the first ice has appeared off Vladivostok.

COMMANDERS RECALLED.

London, Oct. 5.—The Central News has a dispatch from St. Petersburg stating that it is officially announced that Major General Orloff, commander of the fifty-fourth division, and Gen. Romanoff, commander of the sixth Siberian division have been recalled.

MAY BRING TROUBLE.

London, Oct. 5.—Should the statement from St. Petersburg, regarding the Emperor of Germany's telegram to the commander of the Baltic fleet prove accurate the incident is likely to cause some diplomatic protest on the part of Japan.

THIRD RUSSIAN ARMY.

Paris, Oct. 5.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg confirms the report that the third Russian army is about to be formed. General Lou-Haviesky, of the Ninth army corps, will be in command.

LATE WAR OPERATIONS.

Harbin, Oct. 5.—Gen. Kuroki appears to be trying to turn the Russian flank while the Japanese main army is marching forward against the Russian center. The Japanese transports are bringing material to the mouth of the Yalu river, whence it is carried by junks to Shahtski, thence by coolies to Feng Wang Cheng.

NO PROMISES MADE PANAMA REPUBLIC

Nothing Whatever Promised Before the Revolution.

1200 Barrels of Oil Burning In Ohio—National Republican League Meets.

TRAIN WRECK IN GEORGIA

Washington, Oct. 5.—In view of the charges of bad faith made against the United States in connection with the Panama affair the following statement is authoritatively made today: "No promises whatever were made to Panama prior to the revolution. No promises were ever made them by the United States government that were not kept."

1,200 BARRELS OF OIL BURNING.

Findlay, Ohio, Oct. 5.—The most destructive oil fire in the history of the city is raging at the National refinery. Twelve hundred barrels of tank oil were struck by lightning this morning and the contents set afire. The firemen were unable to control the fire, and the loss will reach fifty thousand dollars or more.

NATIONAL REPUBLICANS.

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—The biennial convention of the National Republican league opened today. Governor Durbin made the address of welcome, and the most important question discussed was how to extend the organization among foreign-born voters.

FATAL RAILROAD WRECK.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—It is reported that a passenger train on the Augusta Southern railway went through a trestle near Gibson. Several people are reported killed.

VERY MUCH CONVICT IS MAN OF ALIASES

Has Been to Prison Several Times.

He Is Wanted In Clarksville, Tenn.,
For Shooting a Man In a
Crap Game.

TAKEN TO EDDYVILLE TODAY

Today at noon Marshal William McCullom, of Kuttawa, left for Eddyville with Jordan Lightney, alias Sam Pritchett, alias Sam Jones, alias Ollie Brown, colored, where he will have to stand trial for attempted murder.

He is the negro who tried to cut and shoot Conductor Geo. Mullinix on train No. 122 last week, and who was fined $20 and costs for disorderly conduct on the depot platform. He had not quite served his time here, but the police thought it best to let him be taken to Eddyville, and in event his case does not stick there, he will be taken to Clarksville, where Sunday a week ago he shot Joe Williams, colored, in a crap game.

Lightney stated at the depot that he shot a man in Clarksville, but refused to talk about the case except to say he acted in self-defense. He shot Williams in the neck, wrist and side and the victim is said to be dangerously wounded. Lightney is a dangerous character and the police say he has been to the penitentiary twice from Tennessee and twice from this state. He is the same man who shot at Officer Wm. Johnson and was sent to the penitentiary.

MADE RECORD

Grace Bond Yesterday Won the Kentucky Futurity.

Lowered Two Records and Got a Good Purse.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 5.—Grace Bond, owned by J. Y. Gathcomb, broke at least two world's records to win the Kentucky futurity, worth $14,000, and is disputing the title for a third world's record. She gave two heat races to Alta Axworthy, the favorite, but made her own three heats in 2:09 3/4, or better, thus establishing the world's record for three-year-old trotters.

She made two heats in 2:09 1/4, establishing the world's record for 3-year-olds for two heats. When she made the first heat in 2:09 1/4, Starter Walker announced that she had broken a world's record. Grace's fractional time in her three fast heats was first heat, :32 1/4; 1:04 1/4; 1:36 1/4; second heat, :32 1/4; 1:04 1/4; 1:36 1/4; 2:09 1/4.

Fifth heat, :32 1/4; 1:05 1/4; 1:37 1/4; 2:09 3/4.

She had the third heat race won until she broke at the distance pole and finished fourth.

The race was worth $10,000 to the winner, $2,000 to second, and $1,000 to the third, the rest of the money being divided among the nominators dams. The previous record was 2:10 3/4, made by Ferret in 1900. Grace won the two-year-old division futurity last year in 2:17 3/4.

PINK SLIP CHARGES ARE NOW KNOWN

Commissioner Rose Finishes
Difficult Task.

The Collection on the Policies Were
$8,121.49 In Five and Half Months.

THE REBATES WERE $6,559.43

Insurance Inspector C. C. Rose has completed figuring out the net profits of the insurance companies on the pink slip while it was in force in Paducah. "The pink slip was in force in Paducah five and a half months and during that time I find," Mr. Rose explained, "that the total charge to be credited to the pink slip amounts to $8,121.49. The rebates since the order to remove the pink slip was made amounts to $6,559.43, and this taken from the entire amount credited to the pink slip charges will leave a net profit to the insurance companies of $1,562.06."

The pink slip was ordered in force here because of the refusal of the city to enlarge the fire department, and meant a 25 per cent. increase in insurance rates. It was ordered off September 1st, but the order did not come until the month was half gone, so this necessitated rebating. It will be seen that three-fourths and a little over of the business done was done after September 1st, as over three-fourths of the entire charge on the pink slip was rebated. Inspector Rose's work of figuring out these rebates was a most difficult one. Few of the policies expired at the same time, and many policies were still in force during the time the pink slip was on, under the old rate.

Property owners who have had to pay insurance are greatly pleased as the removal of the pink slip, and the prompt rebate of extra premiums.

C. N. BAKER INJURED

Negroes Struck Him With a Pair of Brass Knuckles.

Their Motive Simply to Punish Him
For Asking What They Were Doing.

Mr. C. N. Baker, manager of the Noah Ark store, was assaulted last night about 7 o'clock by a negro whose sole intent seemed to be in knocking Mr. Baker's head off his shoulders.

Mr. Baker lives at 622 Kentucky avenue and last night had his little daughter with him en route to the Winstead drug store to leave the little girl in care of Mrs. Winstead while he went to the court-house to register. When he got on 7th street he noticed two negroes emerge from an alley which runs in the rear of his house and asked them what they were doing in the alley.

One replied that it was none of his business, and when Mr. Baker went to explain that he lived near and had something to do with the alley, which is a private way, one negro walked up and deliberately struck him on the left side of the head with brass knuckles. Two more licks in the face were struck and by the time Mr. Baker recovered the negroes had fled.

They made no attempt to rob him but didn't tarry long after committing the assault. Mr. Baker had his little daughter's hand when struck and never turned it loose. He says the assault was made so quick that he hardly realized he had been struck before the negroes had disappeared.

The police have a good description of the men and will probably effect their arrest today.

There was considerable excitement over the assault in the neighborhood, but the negroes covered their tracks well and could not be found.

GEN. PAYNE PASSES INTO ETERNITY

Postmaster General Died at 6:10
P. M. Yesterday.

Was One of the Most Beloved Men
In Washington Official Life.

CORTELYOU SUCCEEDS HIM

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C. Payne, the postmaster-general of the United States, member of the national republican committee, a stalwart member of his party, with a history of which both in his home state and nationally he has been identified for many years, died at his apartments at the Arlington at 6:10 o'clock last night, aged 60 years.

His death was announced in the following official bulletin:

"The postmaster-general died at 6:10 p. m. He died peacefully without a struggle. Cause of death, disease of mitral valve and dilatation of heart."

Mr. Payne had been in poor health for at least two years, but his illness covered only seven days.

His death came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness. The last official caller to inquire as to his condition was President Roosevelt, and he had been gone only about ten minutes when the stricken member of the cabinet expired.

Around Mr. Payne's bedside at the time of his death were his devoted wife, Rev. Dr. Dunlap, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, Major and Mrs. W. M. Cameron, of Jamestown, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Cameron, of Milwaukee, Charles L. Jones and Miss Louise Jones, relatives. Private Secretary Whitney, Miss Marie Barbieri, an old companion of Mrs. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Mason, of Washington, old-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, and the faithful colored messenger at the department of the postmaster-general.

The approach of dissolution began during the noon hour, when the sick man lost consciousness and no longer recognized those whom he had attempted to cheer during his illness, by saying to them that he was all right. When Mrs. Payne saw the end was near, she summoned Rev. Dr. Dunlap and at her request he read at the bedside of the dying man psalm 130.

Never in recent years robust, Mr. Payne was unable to withstand the shock of the sinking spells and last Friday, when he had two sinking spells, it was believed he was rapidly approaching the end.

Throughout official Washington and in private circles in which Mr. Payne moved, deep solicitude was manifested. President Roosevelt, whose friendship for the postmaster-general extends back a number of years, was a daily caller at the hotel and was kept constantly advised of his condition. Mrs. Roosevelt, too, was unremitting in her inquiries and called sometimes twice a day, offering comfort to Mrs. Payne. The cabinet officers in Washington made anxious inquiries daily as to the condition of their stricken colleague, and many officials of the post-office department evinced their personal sympathy.

Mr. Payne, in the capacity of member of the republican national committee, had participated in six presidential campaigns and during the last four of which he was a member of the executive committee of the national committee. He was acting chairman of the national committee during the interim between the death of Senator Hanna and the election of Secretary Cortelyou as its head and the trying duties that then devolved upon him sapped his vitality and led to his final breakdown.

CORTELYOU TO SUCCEED.

Washington, Oct. 5.—In succession to Mr. Payne, George Bruce Cortelyou, former secretary of the department of commerce and now chairman of the republican national committee, will become postmaster-general.

Cortelyou's appointment as the head of the postoffice department was determined on several months ago by President Roosevelt, when Mr. Payne indicated to the president his desire to retire from the department on account of the precarious state of his health.

Mr. Payne would have resigned the post office long ago had it not been for the then pending investigation of the

PADUCAH JOURNAL THE OFFICIAL ORGAN

Of the International Shipbuilders
Union.

The Delegates Today Adopt the Paducah Labor Journal—Resolutions Reported Favorably.

DEBATING BEGINS TOMORROW

The third day of the third annual convention of the International Union of Shipwrights, Joiners, and Caulkers was marked by the adoption of the Paducah Journal of Labor, edited by Mr. Claude Johnson, as the official journal of the international union, a very big thing for the paper and its promoters, as it will mean a tripled circulation, as well as for Paducah.

Mr. Johnson secured the recommendation of several members of the international union for the paper, and this morning a resolution was presented and adopted by which the paper was adopted. It will take the place of a small booklet quarterly published at Elizabeth, N. J., by the international union.

Mr. Johnson was present when the adoption was made, and made a nice speech of thanks to the delegates. The paper will print official news of the international union and will contain names of officers of every union in the international union.

While there will be but little done in the way of active business before the body tomorrow, when the debating on resolutions comes up, the committees have reported favorably on several matters.

The resolution regarding the standard scale of wages and hours on the lakes was favorably reported, and left open until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, when it will be debated.

The resolution to support the 8-hour work day wherever established, was favorably reported and action deferred until tomorrow.

A clause was inserted in the constitution requiring each local union to forward to the national secretary the names and address of each officer in the union as soon as elected and installed. In this way a complete record of the international union is secured with no possibility of mistake in officers.

The convention also adopted the label of the house carpenters and joiners.

A communication from the Buffalo local union, presented by Delegate McDonald, was read.

The communication recommended that a resolution be adopted regulating the employment of union men in Buffalo. It was stated that the Buffalo Dry Dock Co. had blacklisted several men because they had been associated with organized labor too much to suit the bosses. The delegates do not want the employers to discriminate and blacklist a man unless he has good and just grounds. The resolution will be drawn up and presented tomorrow for debate.

The committee on constitution which is revising the constitution, will report tomorrow. This is an important work and the committee has changed several parts of the constitution.

This afternoon the committees will resume work, but nothing of a definite form is reported to come up. The convention proper will not begin until the debating time arrives. This is when the actual work is done.

The delegates all say Paducah is the finest town they have ever been in, and everywhere they go, their money is "counterfeit," and they can't spend it. They have been treated royally and are glad they came.

TEACHERS MAY QUIT IF DISSATISFIED

Board Invites Them to Resign
if Things Don't Suit Them.

Regular Meeting of The Board of Education—No Rowlandtown
School Site.

THE MECHANICSBURG SCHOOL

The board of education held its regular meeting last evening with all the trustees present. The usual preliminaries over, Supt. Lieb made his regular report, showing that the schools started off well, despite a number of trivial annoyances. He said that there were a number of complaints about the distance some of the pupils have to walk to reach school, but these are not unusual.

He also reported that there are not enough pupils residing within the Longfellow school district to fill the school, and that the average for each room is 37, while that at other schools is forty-nine. He thought the building could be easily dispensed with if additional facilities were added to some of the other rooms.

He reported 174 more white pupils enrolled this year than last, the total being 2,306 white, and 849 colored pupils, a total of 3,155. He reported the imperative need for additional school facilities in Mechanicsburg, saying that half the school had to be taught in the morning and the other half in the afternoon, making the pupils receive only half the instruction to which they are entitled.

Supt. Lieb made a report of teachers who were dissatisfied with the salaries they were receiving under the board's grading, and said that about six had complained that they were not properly graded. He said that there had not been the least friction, but that the teachers had casually mentioned it to him, and for fear that in the question might in the future cause embarrassment to someone, he asked the board to take some action. The teachers, beginning this year, are paid according to the board's grading, which is based on experience and ability.

The board at once took up the matter and President Coleman in plain words said that if any teacher is dissatisfied he or she could quit.

Trustee J. V. Greif presented the following resolution, which carried unanimously:

"Whereas it is reported that some of the teachers of the public schools of the city are dissatisfied with their salaries as fixed and based upon percentage of efficiency, as provided by this board of trustees, and are making complaints to their friends that they have been unjustly treated, and are not to receive the amount of salary to which they are justly entitled, and

Whereas, This board of trustees has unbounded faith and confidence in its committee and board of examiners who examined the papers and fixed the percentage, that they have done their duty without fear or favor, rendering equal and exact justice to all, and believing that insubordination should not be tolerated to the detriment of the schools, and to that end being determined that discipline shall be maintained, therefore be it,

Resolved, That the clerk of the board of education be and he is hereby ordered to notify all teachers of the common schools of this city that if they are dissatisfied with their salaries as fixed on their percentage of efficiency, that the board of education stands ready to accept the resignation of such teachers as desire to tender their resignation and do not wish to await the regular meeting of the board."

Capt. Herndon wanted to go further and ask the resignation of any teacher who went about grumbling or complained to outsiders about real or imaginary grievances held against the school authorities. It was explained that the board had a right to dispense with such teachers, anyhow, without asking a resignation, and Capt. Herndon then withdrew his motion.

Supt. Lieb explained to the trustees, so they would not be under a misapprehension, that there had been no complaint, but that some of the teachers had simply casually mentioned to him that they didn't think they had been graded fairly. The board decided that it would do no harm to come to a complete understanding now, and adopted the resolution unanimously.

The treasurer's report showed $12,544.06 on hand the first of September. Received enough to make it $12,580.06. Money expended left now on hand, $11,111.36. Miscellaneous accounts amounting to $800.02, and salaries amounting to $518.33 were allowed.

The board inaugurated an innovation last night which was to pay the teachers at the end of the school month of twenty days. This will be next Friday, and on that day the teachers will receive their checks.

Trustee Reddick thought that more than $16,000 insurance should be carried on the Washington building, which cost over $60,000. He was instructed to do what he thought was best.

It was reported that school bonds for erecting a new school in Mechanicsburg could not be floated until the people had voted on them. No action was taken.

The site in Rowlandtown selected for the new school, was abandoned. It was selected and Trustee Morrison had the deed, notes, etc., ready to sign up. The board learned of a lien or something similar on the property and declined to take it, ordering the committee to seek another site.

Trustee Jones was ordered to rent a one-room dwelling in Mechanicsburg for a school. The board will hold a called meeting the last of the week to select a teacher, if suitable arrangements are made for the room.

Miss Blanche Ingram, of Mechanicsburg, was selected a substitute subject to examination. There have not been enough substitutes very often, and the board decided to have one extra one. The young lady is a daughter of Councilman George Ingram, of Mechanicsburg, and graduated last year.

The president was authorized to sign the protest against giving the interurban railway right of way down Eighth street to Clay, down Clay to Fifth and down Fifth to Tennessee.

The board then adjourned.

THE BEST DOCTOR.

Rev. B. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Texas, writes, July 19th, 1899: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Horehound Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MAYFIELD LAUNDRY SOLD.

Messrs. Ducey and Burley, of Carbondale, Ill., have bought the Star Laundry at Mayfield, owned by Mr. J. W. Young, of Paducah, and have taken charge. Mr. Young started the laundry there several years ago, and Mr. Floyd Harris has been manager of it. The latter has now resigned and will go on the road as traveling salesman for a wholesale house.

RUMORED CHANGES ON THIS DISTRICT

Will the Illinois Central Divide
It?

Evansville Also Comes to the Front
With Some Interesting
Rumors.

ARE PROBABLY IDLE REPORTS

It is rumored among some of the railroad men that the Illinois Central is thinking of making two districts between Paducah and Central City, instead of one, and of moving the dispatcher's office to Princeton. So far as can be learned this is only an idle rumor, no one seeming to know anything about it. It is said by some that there is too much business on the district between Paducah and Central City to be handled by one man, and that it will have to be divided.

This is partially borne out by the recent trouble in getting a chief dispatcher to stick. There have been several lately for the district, and no one, after trying it, wants it very badly. Still, there is nothing in the rumor so far as the officials of the district know, and they think they would know if there was any thing in it.

Along the same line, however, the Evansville Courier publishes some interesting rumors, as follows:

"Evansville is to be made one of the most important points along the Illinois Central railroad.

"This is said by parties claiming to know, was the object of the visit here Monday of the following officers of the road: A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division; Otto Schilling, superintendent of the Mattoon division, and Assistant General Superintendent H. McCourt, of Memphis, Tenn.

"The plan suggested is to send all the freight trains from the Louisville division for Chicago through Evansville by way of Princeton, Ky., and Cairo, Ill., as at present.

"This will mean that all such shop work as now is being done at Paducah will be done in this city and will necessitate the enlargement of the local shops and the increase of the present working force.

"None of the visiting railroad officials would make a statement regarding the proposed plans, nor would Assistant General Freight Agent William Smith, with whom they spent the day looking over the company's shops and terminals.

"This, it is said, was the original intention of the company when the Howard yards were laid out and the property surrounding the old West Franklin street depot was acquired and the depot turned into freight headquarters.

"The freight traffic along the Louisville division is equal to that on any division of the system and the movement of the trains through this city in addition to those now traversing the Evansville and Mattoon division means a great deal for this city, especially as all the shop work is to be done here.

"The change is to be made at the earliest possible date."

COUSIN DEAD

Col. R. Rowland Receives Sad
News From St. Louis.

Deceased Was a Prominent Man and Uncle of President D. R. Francis.

Col. Rube Rowland, of North Seventh street, has received news of the death at St. Louis of his cousin, Col. David P. Rowland, former president of the Merchants Exchange there.

David Pitman Rowland was a native of Richmond, Ky., and he died on his 72nd birthday. He went to St. Louis in 1855 and secured employment in the wholesale dry goods firm of E. J. McCreary & Co., as a traveling salesman. In 1863, with W. P. Shryock, he formed the grocery house of Shryock & Rowland. In 1877 the partnership was dissolved, and Mr. Rowland organized a grain and commission firm, of which he was the head. He continued in that business until 1887, when he was appointed to the office of supply commissioner, under Mayor D. R. Francis, his nephew. He served the city in that capacity until 1891 when he again went into the grain and commission business. He gave that occupation up several years ago and took up insurance.

His health had been poor for three years and for the past eighteen months he had been confined to his home, being unable to get downtown.

It was mainly owing to Mr. Rowland's residence in St. Louis that D. R. Francis, now president of the world's fair, went there to reside. The present head of the world's fair resided with his uncle for four years, from 1896 to 1897, while going to college.

Besides his wife, Mr. Rowland leaves two grandchildren, David Rowland Crandall and John R. Crandall. A son, W. S. Rowland, died four years ago, and a daughter, Belle R. Crandall, wife of Victor H. Crandall, died a few months later. T. H. Francis is a nephew and Mrs. C. P. Ellerbe is a niece of the deceased.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Southern Railway has inaugurated a line of free reclining chair cars on the night trains between Lexington, Louisville and St. Louis through without charge in each direction, in addition to the through sleepers and coaches heretofore operated.

These are brand new vestibuled cars with all the latest improvements, including smoking compartment, separate wash rooms for ladies and gentlemen, lighted by Pinesch gas. These reclining chair cars are sure to prove popular with the patrons of the road as they are very comfortable and at night the chairs can be turned back, and used instead of the Pullman sleeper without any extra charge. Any passenger holding a regular through ticket over the Southern Railway is entitled to ride in these cars.

LARGE CROWDS

ATTEND THE REVIVALS NOW IN PROGRESS.

The revival at the First Christian church is gaining in interest with each service. A large congregation heard the Rev. W. H. Pinkerton's eloquent sermon last evening and there were seven conversions at the close.

There are services at 3:30 this afternoon and 7:30 tonight. A large chorus choir makes excellent music.

The revival at the Union Rescue Mission Hall continues with good, being well attended. Had eight adults at the altar last night, with four conversions, making in all twenty conversions. Two babies and one adult were baptized Sunday night and others are to be baptized at a future time. W. H. Harris will preach tonight. Everybody made welcome at these meetings.

BOARD OF WORKS

REGULAR MEETING TO COME UP THIS AFTERNOON OR TONIGHT.

The regular meeting of the Board of Public Works will take place this afternoon or this evening. An effort will be made to hold the meeting late this afternoon instead of tonight. There are no matters of unusual importance to come up.

The board, now that it has the authority, will proceed to get the new street roller by swapping off the old one and paying the difference in cash.

AN APPARENT OVERSIGHT.

From circulars received here from Supt. of Public Instruction Fuqua, Paducah is credited with about 4,000 more colored school children than she really has, which would give the city about $11,000 more than she is entitled to out of the school fund. It is more than likely, however, that the mistake was made in getting up the circular, and that the records at Frankfort are correct.

CHANGES REPORTED.

It is reported that there are several changes probable in the Independent Telephone Company here, one rumor being that there will be a superintendent located here regularly, instead of the superintendent dividing his time between Paducah and Jackson, Tenn.

DREAD OF HUMANITY

I am compelled by a sense of gratitude to tell you the great good your remedy has done me in a case of Contagious Blood Poison. Among other symptoms I was severely afflicted with Rheumatism, and got almost past going. The disease got a firm hold upon my system; my blood was thoroughly poisoned with the virus. I lost in weight, was run down, had sore throat, eruptions, spots and other evidences of the disease. I was truly in a bad shape when I began the use of S. S. S., but the persistent use of it brought me out of my trouble safe and sound, and I have the courage to publicly testify to the virtues of your great blood remedy, S. S. S., and to recommend it to all blood-poison sufferers, sincerely believing if it is taken according to directions and given a fair trial, it will thoroughly eliminate every particle of the virus. JAMES CURRAN, Stark Hotel, Greensburg, Pa.

Painful swellings in the groins, red eruptions upon the skin, sores in the mouth and loss of hair and eyebrows, are some of the symptoms of this vile disease. S. S. S. is an antidote for the awful virus that attacks and destroys even the bones. S. S. S. contains no Mercury, Potash or other mineral ingredient. We offer $1.00 for proof that it is not absolutely vegetable. Home treatment book giving the symptoms and other interesting and valuable information about this disease, mailed free. ## POPULAR DOCTOR CELEBRATES 64TH

Dr. Brooks Says He Has Lived 128 Years, Though.

Got the First Hospital For Paducah When There Were But 6,000 People Here.

HELPED GET THE NEW ONE

Dr. J. G. Brooks made the startling statement that he was 128 years old today, when a Sun reporter entered his office.

"I have lived one hundred and twenty-eight years and am still able to go a few more," he stated, "because I have lived two days for every one day. This may seem peculiar but I really feel that I have done two days' work for every one day I have lived. A doctor does not know what rest means and I was just studying this morning how I had spent my life in Paducah."

"Laying all jokes aside I am 64 years old today and every thing seems to run in fours. I served in 1870 as city physician and remained in office four years. I next served four years as a councilman and then four years as a member of the school board. I next served another four years as a member of the council and think I have given enough of my services to the city and never again intend to be persuaded to run for a public office."

"I secured the first city hospital which had in 1871 when I was city physician. I saw the necessity of a hospital and personally conducted the members of the council about the city and showed them where such an institution was absolutely necessary, and they built the present city hospital, which has served since then. When this hospital was built we had a population in Paducah of 6,000 and now we have four times that, here that figure 'four' comes in again, and I have always done all possible in securing the erection of a new city hospital and one is now under course of construction, which, when finished, will be a credit to the city. Yes, I have considered everything, and think I have done some little good for the city and am glad to feel that I secured the first city hospital, and was able to assist in securing the second."

Dr. Brooks came to Paducah 35 years ago and has been associated with every progressive move pertaining to the betterment of the city and its welfare. He has been an energetic worker in every good cause and has excellent grounds and reasons for feeling that he has been a benefit to the city and a credit as a citizen. His many friends will wish him many returns of today's anniversary.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO FILE PETITION

They Will Ask the Board of Aldermen for Bitulithic.

They Do Not Want Any Brick in Front of Their Homes—Majority Have Signed.

ALDERMEN ARE TO DECIDE

It seems probable that the awarding of the contract for reconstructing Broadway from Fifth to Ninth with brick to Mr. E. C. Terrell, will not be ratified at the meeting of the board of aldermen tomorrow night.

A petition signed by a majority of the property owners, it is said, has been prepared and will be presented to the aldermen in protest against paving the street with brick. Most of the property owners, if not all of them, are willing to pay the additional cost and have the bitulithic compound used.

The only difference in the cost would be between $2.55 and $2.27, the respective bids. This would all, however, not fall on the property owners, as the street car company will pay one-fourth, and the city half of the remaining three-fourths, or less than half to be paid by the property owners.

It seems that the people are more in favor of bitulithic or asphalt paving than they were a few days ago. The subject has been thoroughly discussed and some of the property owners who at first favored brick have been convinced that the other is not only more desirable and attractive, but will be cheaper in the long run.

"I think," said one of the aldermen, "that we will decline to ratify the contract. In the first place we want the job done quickly, and we want some other material than brick. The difference in quality and advantage is greater than the difference in cost, and is in favor of something other than brick."

"But stronger than all is the petition from property owners. They are paying a good deal of the expense, it is in front of their property, and I think they ought to be allowed to have what they want."

Some of the aldermen do not think Contractor Terrell would sign the contract, anyhow, when he learned the stipulations, which will be that the work be completed by December 15th, with no extension of time, and no additional time except for days on which it is impossible to work on account of rain.

HAVING purchased the entire stock of Furniture of Wahl & Sons, 311 Broadway, we are now forced to give up their building and move their stock to our own store, on North Fourth street. We find that it will be absolutely necessary for us to reduce our own stock in order to admit the stock of Wahl & Sons. This move forces us to inaugurate a gigantic clearance sale right in the beginning of our fall season. We do not hesitate, but begin at once with the greatest slaughter of prices ever attempted in the city of Paducah. A great bargain harvest for economical buyers. ## "RICHARD" HAS GONE

MUCH REGRET ABOUT THE MARKET HOUSE OVER LOSS OF THE CAT.

A yellow cat known as "Richard" is one of the fixtures of the old market house that was not moved. "Richard" first appeared about five years ago, and no one knows whence he came. He has not been seen since the market house was moved. Every morning summer or winter, rain or shine, hot or cold, the feline was on hand when Market Master Smedley opened the market. He made his headquarters at Mrs. Sargent's bench, and every morning she gave him some of the "livers and lights" of the chickens she brought in to sell. "Richard" never missed a day calling for his breakfast, except on Sunday. Strange to say no one ever saw him about the market on Sunday, although some of the people nearby have through curiosity looked on Sunday to see if Richard showed up for his daily allowance.

Another strange thing is that the cat always left after eating, and no one knew where he went or where he stayed until the next morning. He was quite a pet and mascot, and there is general sorrow at his mysterious disappearance.

VIGOROUS PROTEST

WILL BE MADE TO RIGHT OF WAY DOWN FIFTH STREET.

The proposed new Paducah-Cairo Electric Railway did not present its request for right of way down Eighth street to Clay, down Clay to Fifth and down Fifth to Tennessee, to the council Monday night because it was learned that strong opposition had developed. It was learned that an attorney was present to protest, and consequently it is probable the matter will not come up until it is in the shape of an ordinance.

A meeting of a number of residents of Fifth street was held yesterday and the opposition outlined. Nearly every property owner on Fifth street, it is understood will fight it.

FALSE OR IGNORANT.

When Judge Parker says in his letter of acceptance that the Dingley Law "contains many duties imposed for the express purpose only, as was openly avowed, of furnishing a basis for reduction by means of reciprocal trade treaties," he states a falsehood and he makes an assertion which, we believe, he knows to be a falsehood. Not only does he make this statement once in his letter, but he reiterates it in the following words:

"As already mentioned by me, the exorbitant duty imposed on many an imported article by the Dingley Tariff was avowedly intended by its author not to be permanent, but to serve temporarily as a maximum, from which the federal government was empowered to offer a reduction, in return for an equivalent concession on the part of a foreign country."

Not once, but many times, has it been declared upon the floor of the house of representatives that this assertion is unqualifiedly false. It is very safe for Judge Parker, now that Nelson A. Dingley is dead and buried and unable to refute his statements, to bring up again this very absurd assertion; and yet members of the ways and means committee who helped frame the Dingley law have stated too many times that no such duties were imposed for any such purpose for Judge Parker not to be fully conversant with the situation if he has kept abreast of the news of the day. If Judge Parker pleads ignorance for making this misstatement, then he does not help his case, but shows most decidedly what the American people are realizing more and more every day, that he is entirely unfit to occupy the highest position in the gift of the people.

CHRISTENING THE PADUCAH.

The gunboat Paducah will be launched at the navy yards in Brooklyn Monday, and The Sun would suggest that the city council and aldermen, or the proper authorities, should send a few representatives from the city to be in attendance at the function. The city has been signally honored by having a gunboat named for it and appreciation of the honor should be shown by having as many Paducah people attend the launching as possible. The Sun therefore suggests

The Republicans Gained 325 Over the First Day of Last Year.

THE DEMOCRATS GAINED 15

The republicans made gratifying gains in yesterday's registration. It was the largest first day's registration on record and the republicans seemed to have turned out in force, while the democrats for some reason fell off.

There is to be a supplementary registration day on the third Tuesday in October, which will be the 18th. Last year on the supplementary day 396 republicans and 335 democrats registered.

GEN. PAYNE PASSES INTO ETERNITY

department. The intense mental and physical strain incident to the direction of the postal inquiry, seriously undermined his strength.

Whether, if he had lived, he would have remained at the head of the department until the close of the present administration had not been determined definitely. It is understood, although the probabilities are he would have resigned to take effect about the first of January.

It is the understanding now that Cortelyou will assume the duties of postmaster-general as soon as he conveniently can after the close of the campaign, probably about the 1st of December, although no date for the assumption of his new responsibilities has been determined upon tentatively. In the interim the responsibilities of directing the affairs of the post-office department will devolve on Mr. Wynne, who will continue as acting postmaster-general until the president may designate formally the successor to Mr. Payne. Under the law the president is required to make such appointments within thirty days.

FUNERAL ON FRIDAY.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The funeral will be held at St. John's Episcopal church, Washington, Friday morning and that afternoon the body will be taken to the Pennsylvania station and placed aboard the private car of President Earling of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, who tendered the use of the car and announced it would be here by tomorrow morning. The remains should arrive at Milwaukee Saturday evening and the services will be held next Sunday at All Saint's Episcopal church there. A message has been sent Right Rev. Isaac L. Nicholson, bishop of Milwaukee, now at a convention in Boston, asking him to officiate. The interment will be at Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee. Mrs. Payne has expressed a desire that the services be as simple as possible. Further plans for the funeral will be decided on tomorrow. The death of the postmaster-general came as a result really of a succession of sinking spells due to a weak heart that enabled the sick man until the heart literally gave out.

FLAGS AT HALF MAST.

Washington, Oct. 5.—All flags on the government buildings are flying at half mast out of respect to the memory of Postmaster-General Payne. The various executive departments will be closed Friday when the funeral services here will be held at St. John's Episcopal church. The remains will be shipped to Wisconsin Friday afternoon.

WYNNE APPOINTED.

Washington, Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt has appointed Assistant Postmaster General Wynne to serve until the regular appointment of postmaster-general.

OFFICIALS LOOK ON WHILE BONDS BURN

$100,000 Worth of Cancelled Securities Destroyed.

Fiscal Court Gets Down to Business—A Number of Court Happenings Today.

SHORT POLICE COURT TODAY

FISCAL COURT.

This morning fiscal court met for the second day of the present term and the most important thing done possibly was the report of Justice R. J. Barber, who engineered the refunding of the $100,000 county bonds to Kleybolte & Company, in New York, and the burning of the old cancelled bonds.

The burning of the bonds was performed in the circuit clerk's office in the big stove and every bond was burned in the presence of all members of the fiscal board, the county judge, county clerk and the deputy circuit clerk. There were 100 bonds to burn and the paper made a hot fire indeed.

Justice Barber's report was a minute account of his trip to New York and what was done in refunding the bonds. His work of refunding the bonds with Kleybolte was satisfactory and the board was better pleased with the job than had the refunding been done with White & Company, who wanted 4-1-2 per cent. Justice Barber refunded the bonds at 4 per cent.

The committee appointed to settle with the treasurer and audit his reports, reported as follows:

Pauper fund, road and bridge account. Expenditures $14,457.94, balance $37.42.

Funding account, total balance to credit of fund, $23,494.77.

Pauper fund proper. Expenditures $2,000 with balance $876.43.

County levy fund. Expenditures $13,260.94 with balance $569.74.

County Road Supervisor Bert Johnson filed a lengthy report on road work and the cost of the work to the county. The following is a condensed outline of the expenditures and will show that Mr. Johnson has been doing excellent work:

Repairs, tools, etc., $1,413.70; cost of old road work, bridges, $7,360.78; gravel, $598.62; dirt work, $5,816.12, making a total of $13,775.52.

Cost of new roads. For bridges $920.03, dirt work $1,831.06. Total of $2,751.09.

PADUCAH COUPLE

WENT TO CAIRO WITH A
McCRACKEN COUNTY LICENSE.

The Cairo papers state that last Sunday a bridal couple from McCracken county arrived there to get married, and when they stood before the magistrate, "Uncle Joe" Steagala, and produced the license, it proved to be one from McCracken county, Ky. The Cairo News says:

"The intended groom thrust the license back in his pocket and remarked that it was funny that a marriage license 'wasn't good any place.' Uncle Joe suggested that they go to the county clerk and take out an Alexander county license, but the young man said that 'he guessed that they could wait till they got back home,' but added that he was 'powerfully disappointed' because he had gone to the expense of having his honeymoon before he was married and thought that it would be a good idea to come to Cairo and 'get hitched.'"

"It developed that the young man had had the license several weeks and was 'just waitin' for a nice Sunday to come to Cairo and get married.'"

"The would be bride and groom returned home Sunday evening, a sad but nevertheless loving couple, accompanied by the 'best man' and 'bridesmaid.'"

NOTE.—The following article has been widely published and is one of the most remarkable illustrations of the value of careful marshalling and analysis of facts in presenting a subject to the public.

LEVELERS

THE MISSION OF WHISKEY, TOBACCO AND COFFEE.

The Creator made all things, we be lieve.

If so, He must have made these. We know what He made food and water for, and air and sunshine, but why Whiskey, Tobacco and Coffee? They are here sure enough and each performing its work.

There must be some great plan behind it all; the thoughtful man seeks to understand something of that plan and thereby to judge these articles for their true worth.

Let us not say "bad" or "good" without taking testimony.

There are times and conditions when it certainly seems to the casual observer that these stimulant narcotics are real blessings.

Right there is the ambush that conceals a "killing" enemy.

One can slip into the habit of either whiskey, tobacco or coffee easy enough, but to "untangle" is often a fearful struggle.

It seems plain, that there are circumstances when the narcotic effect of these poisons is for the moment beneficial but the fearful argument against them is that seldom ever does one find a steady user of either whiskey, coffee or tobacco free from disease of some kind.

Certainly powerful elements in their effect on the human race.

It is a matter of daily history testified to by literally millions of people, that Whiskey, Tobacco and Coffee are smiling, promising, beguiling friends on the start, but ALWAYS FALSE A BELL ITSELF in the end. Once they get firm hold enough to show their strength, they insist upon governing and drive the victims steadily towards ill health in some form; if permitted to continue to rule, they will not let up until physical and mental ruin sets in.

A man under that spell (and "under the spell" is correct), of any one of these drugs, frequently assures himself and his friends, "Why I can leave off any time I want to. I did quit for a week just to show I could." It is a sure mark of the slave when one gets to that stage. He wiggled through a week fighting every day to break the spell, was finally whipped, and began his slavery all over again.

The slave (Coffee slave as well as Tobacco and Whiskey) daily reviews his condition, sees perfectly plain the steady encroachments of disease, how the nerves get weaker day by day and demand the drug that seems to smile and offer relief for a few minutes and then leave the diseased condition plainer to view than ever and growing worse. Many times the Coffee slave realizes that he is between two fires. He feels bad if he leaves off and a little worse if he drinks and allows the EFFECT TO WEAR OFF.

So it goes on from day to day. Every night the struggling victim promises himself that he will break the habit and next day when he feels a little bad (as he is quite sure to) breaks, not the habit, but his own resolution. It is nearly always a tough fight, with disaster ahead SURE if the habit wins.

There have been hundreds of thousands of people driven to their graves through disease brought on by coffee drinking alone, and it is quite certain that more human misery is caused by coffee and tobacco than by whiskey, for the two first are more widely used and more hidden and insidious in the effect on nerves, heart and other vital organs, and are thus unsuspected until much of the dangerous work is done.

Now Reader, what is your opinion as to the real use the Creator has for these things? Take a look at the question from this point of view.

There is a law of Nature and of Nature's God that things slowly evolve from lower planes to higher, a sturdy, steady and dignified advance toward more perfect things in both the Physical and Spiritual world. The ponderous tread of evolutionary development is fixed by the Infinite and will not be quickened out of natural law by any of man's methods.

Therefore we see many illustrations showing how nature checks too rapid advance. Illinois raises phenomenal crops of corn for two or three years. If so continued to do so every year her farmers would advance in wealth far beyond those of other sections or countries. So Nature interposes a bar every three or four years and brings on a "bad year."

Here we see the leveling influence at work.

A man is prosperous in his business for a number of years and grows rich. Then nature sets the "leveling influence" at work on him. Some of his investments lose, he becomes luxurious and lazy. Perhaps it is whiskey, tobacco, coffee, women, gambling, or some other form. The intent and purpose is to level him. Keep him from evolving too far ahead of the masses.

A nation becomes prosperous and great like ancient Rome. If no leveling influence set in she would dominate the world perhaps for all time. But Dame Nature sets her army of "levelers" at work. Luxury, over-eating and drinking, licentiousness, waste and extravagance indulgences of all kinds, then comes the wreck. SURE, SURE, SURE.

The law of the unit is the law of the mass. Man goes through the same process. Weakness (in childhood), gradual growth of strength, energy, thrift, probity, prosperity, wealth, comfort, ease, relaxation, self-indulgence, luxury, idleness, waste, debauchery, disease, and the wreck follows. The "levelers" are in the bushes along the pathway of every successful man and woman and they bag the majority.

Only now and then can a man stand out against these "levelers" and hold his fortune, fame and health to the end.

So the Creator has use for Whiskey, Tobacco and Coffee to level down the successful ones and those who show signs of being successful, and keep them back in the race, so that the great "field" (the masses) may not be left too far behind.

And yet we must admit that same all-wise Creator has placed it in the power of man to stand upright, clothed in the armor of a clean cut, steady mind and say unto himself, "I decline to exchange my birthright for a mess of pottage."

"I" will not weaken my senses, weaken my grip on affairs and sleep myself cheap, common and behind in fortune and fame by dragging with whiskey, tobacco or coffee, life is too short. It is hard enough to win the good things, without any sort of handicap, so a man is certainly a "fool trader" when he trades strength, health, money, and the good things that come with power, for the half-asleep condition of the "drugged" with the certainty of sickness and disease ahead."

It is a matter each individual must decide for himself. He can be a leader and semi-god if he will, or he can go along through life a drugged clown, a cheap "hewer of wood or carrier of water."

Certain it is that while the Great Father of us all does not seem to "mind" if some of his children are foolish and stupid, he seems to select others (perhaps those he intends for some special work) and allow them to be threatened and castigated most fearfully by these "levelers."

If a man tries flirting with these levelers awhile, and gets a few slaps as a hint, he had better take the hint or a good solid blow will follow.

When a man tries to live upright, clean, thrifty, sober, and undrugged, manifesting as near as he knows what the Creator intends he should, happiness, health and peace seem to come to him. Does it pay?

This article was written to set people thinking, to rouse the "God within" for every highly organized man and woman has times when they feel a something calling from within for them to press to the front and "be about the Father's business," don't mistake it; the spark of the Infinite is there and it says in every way, health, happiness, peace, and even worldly prosperity, to break the habits and strip clean for the work cut out for us.

It has been the business of the writer to provide a practical and easy way for people to break away from the coffee habit and be assured of a return to health and all of the good things that brings, provided the abuse has not gone too far, and even then the cases where the body has been rebuilt on a basis of strength and health run into the thousands.

It is an easy and comfortable step to stop coffee instantly by having well-made Postum Food Coffee served rich and hot with good cream, for the color and flavor is there, but none of the caffeine or other nerve destroying elements or ordinary coffee.

On the contrary the most powerful rebuilding elements furnished by Nature are in Postum and they quickly set about repairing the damage. Seldom is it more than 2 days after the change is made before the old stomach or bowel troubles or complaints of kidney, heart, head or nerves show unmistakable evidence of getting better and ten days time changes things wonderfully.

Literally millions of brain working Americans today use Postum, having found the value and common sense in the change. O. W. POST.

LIBRARY OPEN

2,000 People Were at Preliminary Reception.

Music and Addresses Made the Evening One of Enjoyment.

The preliminary opening of the Carnegie Library at Ninth and Broadway took place last night and over 2,000 people assembled at the building to attend the exercises.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. W. E. Cave in the absence of Rev. G. W. Perryman, and following Rev. Cave's prayer Miss Ada Brazelton and Mrs. D. I. Lewis played several selections on the piano.

President E. W. Bagby then made a few introductory remarks on the library, how it was secured and of the methods employed in its operation.

Miss Catherine L. Sharpe, of Champaign, Ill., who is the head librarian and director of the state library association of Illinois, was introduced by Mr. Bagby and made an excellent address on libraries and their uses. She clearly set out the facts that the public library is a source of much educational advantage and is so recognized throughout the country. Miss Sharpe is an excellent speaker and told the people more about libraries in less time, than they could have learned it by years of experience.

Following Miss Sharpe there was more music and then Mayor Yeiser declared the library opened and the people were permitted to go into the different departments and inspect the books and library thoroughly.

The librarian and assistants gave out cards last night and these cards will be returned and books will begin circulating by Friday. The residents must first give a bond as to the care of the book and this will require about one week. After all identification cards and bonds are in, the library will begin giving out books.

There are only two departments now in service, these being the juvenile and fiction. There is one shipment of books which has never been opened and listed but the librarian will get to work on these books this week.

NEW POINT

Insurance Company Barred by the Commissioner.

It is Alleged to Have Violated the Law By Taking a Case to Federal Court.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 5.—State Insurance Commissioner Henry R. Prewitt has entered an order upon the records of that department revoking all authority of the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company of Birmingham, N. Y., and its agents to do business in the state of Kentucky. The action is taken because of the removal by that company of a case against it from the state to the United States court, in violation of the Kentucky statutes. The case is that of Crane and others against the company, from the county of Owen.

The step of Commissioner Prewitt in this matter was taken under the provisions of Section 631 of the Kentucky Statutes, and upon the advice of the attorney general and other legal counsel. Section 631 provides that "before authority is granted to any foreign insurance company to do business in this state it must file with the commissioner a resolution adopted by its board of directors consenting that service upon any agent in any action brought or pending in the state shall be a valid service upon said company; and if any company shall, without the consent of the other party to any suit brought against it in the courts of this state, remove said suit to any federal court, or shall institute any suit or proceeding against any citizen of this state in the federal court, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to forthwith revoke all authority to such company and its agents to do business in this state."

The validity of this section of the insurance laws of the state has not been tested in the courts of the state, and there will be much interest among insurance people in the settlement of the question, which will undoubtedly be raised by the company which has been denied the authority to do business. A similar section, No. 572 of the statutes, relating to all foreign corporations, was declared unconstitutional by the court of appeals in a case of the commonwealth against the East Tennessee Coal Company, 97 Kentucky Reports, page 238.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

The newcomer strode to the steps with assurance and touched Anne's fingers with his lips. "Still so cold, so far away? Still cherishing a frown for me?"

"I looked not to see you, Captain Jarrat."

"I am but just returned from London."

"On the Two Sisters?"

"Aye," he answered, with a slumbering flush on his face. "The moth returns to the lamp. A pretty conceit, is it not?"

She moved her shoulders with a gesture of impatience.

"Why am I doomed to be ever in your bad graces, Mistress Tillotson? Oh, 'tis true. I would it were not!"

"Twas so in Williamsburg. Had you a smile for me? 'Twas when I went. Well, I return to the frown."

"I have naught else for you. I have told you so."

"And yet," he said constrainedly, "for another kind of look from you I would forget all else. I would change all, risk all. Can I never win aught from such a love as mine? Will you never tell me how to change myself for you? Shall I go always wanting? A fierce and unhappy passion was written in his face."

She turned from him coldly. "I beg you will not recur to that, captain," she said. "My answer was my answer. I can never give you more."

He touched his breast, drawing his hand across the gold slashes of his coat. "Is it this? Do you frown upon his majesty's uniform? I swear I would I were a White!"

"A Tory before a turncoat," she answered him.

Jarrat shut his teeth like a trap. Then without reply he bowed to her and strode toward the ship. Betsy turning her horse, saw only his vanishing figure, Anne's face a flush red of anger and her eyes gleaming like blue ice.

"Why," exclaimed she in surprise, "t'was Captain Jarrat!"

"I wish," said Anne, with temper, giving Betsy's horse a slap that made him dance and ended with a curdling scream from its rider—"I wish Captain Jarrat was in Guinea!"

As Jarrat stepped on to the deck the gateway was thrown down for the herded human cattle that had thronged the lower deck. Sixty odd, they came trooping out to where the factors were gathered, and the ship's agent at once began the bidding by offering a convict south bound for seven years and allowed only diet and lodging, who, he declared, made great diversion by singing and whistling, besides being rare at iron work.

The sale proceeded rapidly, for bond servants were in demand and the lot was above an average one. They stood for inspection eagerly or stolidly, as their faces promised, some sullen eyed, some smirking. The women were offered last. But few remained when the agent beckoned to the swarthy skinned woman whose babe had died during the voyage, and she came forward timidly, turning her blue-black Italian eyes upon the crowd in misunderstanding and cowering dread. Her hair and the red olive of her skin made a curious contrast to the light complexions of the other women.

Burroughs Rolph, who had purchased two laborers, looked her over with satisfaction.

"A likely wench," he gulped. "Twenty pounds is enough, I doubt not, since she is foreign. I take her. Put that down to my reckoning, Master Clarkson."

"Poor thing!" said Anne. "I would I were a man. That brute should never have her!" She looked up and felt the young Frenchman's eyes full upon her. He had clearly overheard.

"You belong to him now," said the agent to the woman, pointing to Rolph. "I've understood."

She gazed into Rolph's face and shrinking about the circle. Then, with a sudden cry, doubling like an animal, she dodged between the knots of spectators and threw herself at Armand's feet.

Rolph's curse was lost in a great laugh which rose from the factors, and Anne's face stung red at a coarse remark from one of them.

M. Armand did not seem mollified. He stooped and lifted the cowering woman to her feet as Rolph approached, his lean eyes twinkling.

"My wench seems to have an uncommon fancy," the latter sneered. "Gall me, why did you not buy her?"

"Will you sell her to me?"

The latter looked at the secretary's dress and glowered at the merment of the onlookers.

"No," he blurted.

Armand smiled with suavity. "Perhaps it would pleasure you to game with me for her? In my country, gentlemen," he remarked to those around, "we are overfond of the dice table. As for me, I could never resist to woo the hazard of fortune. Mayhap, however, here you are less adventurous, more cautious, monsieur, or, as those who, having little, hesitate to risk."

Rolph grunted at this airy thrust and gnawed his lip. His estate of Bentcliff was the largest on all the James, and this, it was said, he had won in the palace in Williamsburg fifteen years before in a wild night of play with Governor Fauquier's gambling crew.

"I will lay against her," added Armand, "double the amount she cost you. And a toss of a coin shall decide."

The factors gasped and stood looking the speaker over. Rolph stared in instant, then: "Done! Leave the indenture open, Master Clarkson, and bring it here."

A wager in Virginia never failed to provoke interest, whether it was for a puff of spurs or a pipe of canary, and now all were listening eagerly. The two girls, from their positions, could see without difficulty over the intervening heads.

"Let us go farther away," said Anne. But Betsy was of a different mind.

"No, no," she protested. "They are going to toss. I wouldn't miss it now for anything. He is French, Anne. I can tell it by the accent."

Rolph called and threw the gold coin he had drawn from his pocket with a flourish. "The king's head!" rose a score of voices as it fell. "Mr. Rolph wins."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betsy in great vexation.

"I really believe," said Anne, with heat, "that you want that man to win."

"Weren't you just now wishing you were a man so Mr. Rolph shouldn't?" retorted Betsy.

M. Armand had drawn forth a wallet from his pocket and lifted out the sum. "Fortune beams upon you, monsieur," he smiled. "I was ever unlucky of a Wednesday. Shall we have one more throw? And double or quits mayhap, monsieur? Unless you deem the stake overlight?"

"High!" said Rolph, with a growl. "Double or quits it is. Eighty pounds against your lost forty, and the wench, but, mind you, this one throw ends it. O'you hear?"

A man's last will and testament is a dead giveaway.

As Jarrat stepped on to the deck the gateway was thrown down for the herded human cattle that had thronged the lower deck. Sixty odd, they came trooping out to where the factors were gathered, and the ship's agent at once began the bidding by offering a convict south bound for seven years and allowed only diet and lodging, who, he declared, made great diversion by singing and whistling, besides being rare at iron work.

Rolph grunted at this airy thrust and gnawed his lip. His estate of Bentcliff was the largest on all the James, and this, it was said, he had won in the palace in Williamsburg fifteen years before in a wild night of play with Governor Fauquier's gambling crew.

"I will lay against her," added Armand, "double the amount she cost you. And a toss of a coin shall decide."

The factors gasped and stood looking the speaker over. Rolph stared in instant, then: "Done! Leave the indenture open, Master Clarkson, and bring it here."

A wager in Virginia never failed to provoke interest, whether it was for a puff of spurs or a pipe of canary, and now all were listening eagerly. The two girls, from their positions, could see without difficulty over the intervening heads.

"Let us go farther away," said Anne. But Betsy was of a different mind.

"No, no," she protested. "They are going to toss. I wouldn't miss it now for anything. He is French, Anne. I can tell it by the accent."

Rolph called and threw the gold coin he had drawn from his pocket with a flourish. "The king's head!" rose a score of voices as it fell. "Mr. Rolph wins."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Betsy in great vexation.

"I really believe," said Anne, with heat, "that you want that man to win."

"Weren't you just now wishing you were a man so Mr. Rolph shouldn't?" retorted Betsy.

M. Armand had drawn forth a wallet from his pocket and lifted out the sum. "Fortune beams upon you, monsieur," he smiled. "I was ever unlucky of a Wednesday. Shall we have one more throw? And double or quits mayhap, monsieur? Unless you deem the stake overlight?"

"High!" said Rolph, with a growl. "Double or quits it is. Eighty pounds against your lost forty, and the wench, but, mind you, this one throw ends it. O'you hear?"

A man's last will and testament is a dead giveaway.

As Jarrat stepped on to the deck the gateway was thrown down for the herded human cattle that had thronged the lower deck. Sixty odd, they came trooping out to where the factors were gathered, and the ship's agent at once began the bidding by offering a convict south bound for seven years and allowed only diet and lodging, who, he declared, made great diversion by singing and whistling, besides being rare at iron work.

The sale proceeded rapidly, for bond servants were in demand and the lot was above an average one. They stood for inspection eagerly or stolidly, as their faces promised, some sullen eyed, some smirking. The women were offered last. But few remained when the agent beckoned to the swarthy skinned woman whose babe had died during the voyage, and she came forward timidly, turning her blue-black Italian eyes upon the crowd in misunderstanding and cowering dread. Her hair and the red olive of her skin made a curious contrast to the light complexions of the other women.

Burroughs Rolph, who had purchased two laborers, looked her over with satisfaction.

"A likely wench," he gulped. "Twenty pounds is enough, I doubt not, since she is foreign. I take her. Put that down to my reckoning, Master Clarkson."

"Poor thing!" said Anne. "I would I were a man. That brute should never have her!" She looked up and felt the young Frenchman's eyes full upon her. He had clearly overheard.

"You belong to him now," said the agent to the woman, pointing to Rolph. "I've understood."

She gazed into Rolph's face and shrinking about the circle. Then, with a sudden cry, doubling like an animal, she dodged between the knots of spectators and threw herself at Armand's feet.

Rolph's curse was lost in a great laugh which rose from the factors, and Anne's face stung red at a coarse remark from one of them.

M. Armand did not seem mollified. He stooped and lifted the cowering woman to her feet as Rolph approached, his lean eyes twinkling.

"My wench seems to have an uncommon fancy," the latter sneered. "Gall me, why did you not buy her?"

"Will you sell her to me?"

The latter looked at the secretary's dress and glowered at the merment of the onlookers.

"No," he blurted.

Armand smiled with suavity. "Perhaps it would pleasure you to game with me for her? In my country, gentlemen," he remarked to those around, "we are overfond of the dice table. As for me, I could never resist to woo the hazard of fortune. Mayhap, however, here you are less adventurous, more cautious, monsieur, or, as those who, having little, hesitate to risk."

Rolph grunted at this airy thrust and gnawed his lip. His estate of Bentcliff was the largest on all the James, and this, it was said, he had won in the
